DOUG MARTIN

Bryce Rytting, Conductor

Bryce Rytting's education is unusually varied: his studies in Germany, the United States, and England have earned him degrees in conducting, history, and theory. Princeton University awarded him a PhD and an MFA in musicology. Graduate work under Helmuth Rilling at the Frankfurt Conservatory yielded a Künstlerische Reifeprüfung (literally, "artistic maturity examination") in conducting. His first degree was magna cum laude from the University of Utah in music theory. He has also studied at the Guildhall School of Music and Drama in London.

In 1986 Bryce joined the faculty of the Eastman School of Music. In 1989 he came west to teach at BYU, where he conducted opera, choirs, and orchestras. In addition, he has served as music director of Pro Musica (a choir based in Salt Lake City), conductor of the Park City International Music Festival Orchestra, guest conductor of the Salt Lake Symphony and the Southwest Symphony and Chorus, and conductor of orchestras and chamber music coach for several seasons at the Intermountain Suzuki String Institute.

In 1998 he was named music director of the Utah Valley Symphony and permanent conductor for the Utah Regional Ballet. He accepted a position at Utah Valley State College, now Utah Valley University, in 2001, where he chaired the Music Department from 2002 to 2010.

Bryce and his wife, Lysa, who is a professional harpist, have three children: McKay, Mairin, and Chris. 🎻

With the exception of the principals in each section, string players are rotated each concert.

The Utah Valley Symphony is funded in part by grants from the Utah Arts Council; the National Endowment for the Arts, Washington, D.C., which believes that a great nation deserves great art.; and the George S. and Dolores Doré Eccles Foundation.
